

the story...

Restaurants and Food have been integral to the family for over three generations! In the late 1930's grandfathers Pappou Angelis and Pappou Anastasis arrived in Manchester from Kato Drys, Cyprus (after brief flirtations with America during the Great Depression). They were penniless and homeless but armed with a suitcase full of Cypriot Lace-examples of which you can see hung in the restaurant. Selling the Cypriot Lace to wealthy families the length and breadth of the country allowed them to save enough to separately start small restaurants in Bolton and Wilmslow where they stayed with their families until they retired in the early 1980s. Unlike most other bogus stories you read on restaurant menus this is completely true!

At Papa G's we have embraced the old traditional Greek and Mediterranean cooking taught over generations. Not only that, we have also embraced "how" it was cooked. For example, all grilled food is cooked on real charcoal as it used to be, for maximum flavour. This coupled with other favourites such as klefiko, Mary's ribs, homemade pizzas and speciality crepes, make our menu pretty special.

At Papa G's we want to offer you an experience you won't forget-generous portions with innovative menu selections all made with quality ingredients, served in a casual environment you'll find difficult to leave. We want you to share our passion for great food whilst having fun!

Remember... "Eating is not only a pleasure... it's a way of life!"
